HOAG-LAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent, and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets.
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling, invented by H. R. Hoagland, we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the simplest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It requires without bolt or screw, and is therefore, easily and readily separated. It rests on Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant, and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use, and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent, heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

DATES TO SEPTEMBER 10.

Washington News.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—A Washington special says that two checks on the paymaster's department, drawn by Henry Wilson, signing himself paymaster of the navy, which were cashed by San Francisco bankers, were refused payment, Wilson not being in the service. He was paymaster years ago, but was dismissed years ago.

Admiral Hoff has had an interview with the State Department officials, and gave the result of his investigation of the treatment of Americans in Cuba. He says Spikeman's execution was no less than a cold blooded murder.

A letter from a member of the Burlingame embassy says Burlingame received at St. Petersburg an official letter from the Pekin authorities fully endorsing his course in the United States, thus showing the falsity of the report that China had repudiated the treaty.

Senator Colfax left for California yesterday. He asked the Treasurer to assign his brother to the special agency of the South. No action taken.

Several Treasury clerks yesterday refused to obey the recent order, requiring them to give information as to their birth, age, relations, Representative in Congress, etc., and tendered their resignations. Several female clerks grew highly indignant, and refused to tell their age, who got them appointed, etc.

The North Pacific Railroad exploring party, recently arrived from the Pacific coast, who started for Lake Superior by stage, were compelled to return and go down by way of Chicago.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—John J. Knox, Deputy Controller of Currency, has accepted the Cashiership of the Union Square National Bank.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Indications are that the public debt statement on the first of October will show a very little if any reduction, the payments for the present month having been very heavy.

Much of what is stated in regard to the course of the Administration on the subject of Cuban independence is mere literal conjecture. All that is certainly known is merely through Minister Sickles to the Spanish. There are no positive indications of an acknowledgment of belligerent rights. The policy of the Administration has been to enforce the neutrality laws and act in good faith, according to the treaty obligations. There is no question that they deeply sympathize with the Cubans and will continue to exercise friendly offices with discretion with a view to effect a solution of the question in a manner satisfactory to all parties interested. President Grant will return to Washington on Thursday night. All the members of the Cabinet will be here.

Chicago Dispatch.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Another meeting was held yesterday to arrange for receiving the California pioneers who are expected on Tuesday. A committee of welcome consisting of fifty prominent citizens, appointed in Chicago, will endeavor in some degree, to reciprocate attentions showered upon her delegation while in California.

CHICAGO, Sept. 18.—Rose Walsh, who was shot by her husband, David Walsh, at the door of her father's house, Sept. 7th, died yesterday. Walsh is in jail on the charge of willful murder.

Chas. Barton, without a word of warning, rushed up and stabbed James Ferguson, a hack driver, while drunk at the bar of a saloon in South Clark street, last evening, plunging a long clasp knife into his abdomen. Ferguson gave instant pursuit, opening a pocket knife while running, overtook Barton and stabbed him nearly in the same place, severing several of the principal intestines. Barton is fatally wounded and Ferguson dangerously.

Some strangers were confidenced out of $5,000 yesterday, at the railroad depot.

The Young Men's Christian Association received fifteen tons tracts from Dublin, valued at $8,000.

Fight with the Sioux Indians—Omaha Dispatch.

OMAHA, Sept. 18.—Gen. Augur has received information from Col. Bristol, commanding the Yuka reservation, of a fight between a company of troops and about 100 Sioux Indians, just below his camp Thursday. Two Indians were killed and many wounded. Two soldiers were wounded.

Gov. Haight of California, arrived here yesterday en route east.

The Red Stockings arrived here this morning, and leave for San Francisco to-morrow—Sunday.

A special says Wm. Swinton and John G. Saxe left for California yesterday.

Rich copper mines have been discovered near Rawlins' Springs, Wyoming. A company is forming to commence active operations soon.

The Indians have been making hostile demonstrations on the Snake river reservation.

Spain and the United States.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—It is stated that it is not the intention of the administration to push the settlement of the Cuban difficulties for the present; nor do anything that would be likely to irritate Spain or provoke a war. Matters will probably be allowed to drift along as they have been doing, in the hope that the Spanish government will finally accept the Sickles' proposition.

Railroad Matters.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—The railroad lines south of Louisville, Kentucky, especially those running to Nashville, Memphis, Mobile and New Orleans, are all blockaded with freight, and agents of the different lines here refuse to give receipts or receipts to points beyond Louisville. This does not interfere with the passenger business. A meeting of railroad men was held here in the early part of the week on the subject of increasing rates of freight, but resulted in nothing.

Two freight trains collided on the Hudson river railroad at Sixteenth street, last night, and several cars were destroyed.

Thomas Brennan, confederate of Reddy, the blacksmith, in the Graham robbery, died in the State prison last week.

Rumors say that the unveiling of the statue of Vanderbilt on the 25th inst., is to be made the occasion for the union of the Central and Hudson river roads and a declaration of the long promised scrip dividend.

The Carpenters' National Union have adopted a report in favor of co-operative societies and adjourned to meet at New Haven next year.

Railroad Disaster.

CHARLESTON, S. C., Sept. 18.—A terrible accident occurred on the night train from Charleston, on the South Carolina Railroad, before daylight this morning. A large tree which had fallen across the trestle at Congaree Swamps threw the engine and part of the train into the swamp. The engine blew up, setting the cars and trestle on fire, burning 600 feet of the latter. The engineer and fireman were killed and another fireman seriously hurt, but none of the passengers were injured.

General Telegrams.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 18.—Rev. Benjamin Darr, Rector of Christ Church, died this morning.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—The Newburyport Cuban filibusters have all been discharged for want of sufficient evidence.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Sept. 18.—The State Fair closed to-day after a successful run of five days. The attendance during the week was nearly 45,000. The stock exhibited was the finest ever seen at any previous fair.

JACKSON, Miss., Sept. 18.—Judge Dent, General Lowery and Thomas Sinclair opened the canvass to-day at Corinth.

The State Fair will be held from the 26th to 30th of October.

QUEBEC, Sept. 18.—P. P. Harris, manager of the Quebec Branch of the Montreal Bank and brother to Sanderson, has absconded, taking funds of the bank reported to the amount of $50,000.

It is yet undecided whether Prince Arthur will visit the United States. He probably will in the winter.

The Cuban Situation.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—A Herald special dated Paris, Sept. 17th, evening, says General Prim's second and latest audience with Napoleon was of some hours duration. The subject matter of conversation is affording cause for a very considerable amount of anxiety outside. It is being pretty accurately ascertained to-day that the situation in regard to the Cuban revolution and chances of its suppression as well as the probable future of the Island as regards its form of government and rights of rule were discussed, and the Emperor advised an amicable arrangement between the Spaniards and the Cabinet at Washington in the matter of American desire for the acquisition of the territory by purchase, adding toward the close of his remarks his opinion to the effect that if the war continued with the present attendant barbarities, President Grant would be compelled to interfere between the contending parties if only in behalf and for the cause of humanity. Gen. Prim replied that he was himself personally willing to negotiate with the American authorities in the direction indicated by the ruler of France, but Spain and his fellow countrymen at large remained opposed to such a course. Napoleon in reply advised Gen. Prim and the Spaniards to imitate in this case his own example and give up Cuba just as he had given up Mexico before it was too late to do so with honor.

Sickles has proposed a new plan of compromise on the Cuban subject. Spain is in an intense state of excitement, blasting and boiling over, it may be said, on account of the news from Cuba, reports from Washington and other parts, and the adherence of Sickles in Madrid to the policy of sell or perhaps lose.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—An iron-clad of 1,500 tons, with a large body of men (about 300) was boarded by the commander of the Greyhead Indian, near New Bedford last night. She carried 16 guns, had steam up and was taking material on board from a schooner along side. The steamer is believed to be a Cuban privateer.

The Herald reports that a double ender gunboat was seen off that place Thursday, supposed to be waiting for Cuban filibusters.

St. Louis Dispatch.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 19.—The steamer Flirt from the upper Mississippi has arrived. The U. S. Marshal arrested the mate, John Garrett, for cruelty to Frank Mooney, whose case has been progressing for several days. A large crowd of boatmen and levee laborers collected and threats to lynch Garrett were made but not carried out.

Eight companies of cavalry and three companies of Pawnee scouts left Fort McPherson on the 15th, under command of Gen. Duncan, for the Republican river country. It is reported that several bands of Indians have crossed Platte river going south.

Four dredging boats passed down yesterday to assist in cutting a canal from the Mississippi to Lake Borgne, by which shipments in bulk can be made to Ship Island in all weather, and there be transferred to vessels.

While John Matchews, telegraph repairer, was taking the wire from a pole it fell and killed him instantly.

G. W. Julian, a prominent citizen, was terribly beaten and had his skull fractured by a crazy man yesterday. He will probably die.

Arrangements for an Irish immigration convention, to be held here October 8th, are progressing. The indications are that nearly every State in the Union will be represented.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

PITTSBURG, Sept. 19.—The question of the proposed Washington and Jefferson colleges was settled by Judge McCandless, of the United States District Court, who decided that an injunction restraining the colleges buildings and property should be granted, which leaves the colleges separate as before.

Cincinnati Dispatch.

CINCINNATI, Sept. 19.—Richard Clark and Henry Rose were arrested yesterday on suspicion of robbing the safe of Bright's park house. A large amount of bonds were found in their lodgings with a large amount of other plunder.

Smothered with Coal Gas.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 19.—Two women and one man were sleeping in a close room last night with coal burning in the grate. Both the women are dead this morning, and the man is not expected to recover.

Labor Saving Machinery in Agriculture.

At a recent agricultural dinner in England Lord Stanley made a speech which has attracted much attention in that country. The gist of this speech was that "the modern improvement of mechanical appliances for cultivating the soil—an improvement which already amounts to a revolution of the old methods, and which is destined to expand far beyond its present scope—cannot be made available to its fullest extent on small farms. The new implements can effect a great saving, but they cannot be used economically except where farming is carried on upon a large scale, and they cannot be used at all without a considerable capital to begin with. The obvious consequence is that this state of things necessitates the consolidation of the small farms and the extinction of the small farmers."

There is much truth in this view, but it is subject to certain limitations. In the production of cereals machinery is now employed to do nearly the whole work; but no machinery has yet been devised which can be operated in a way to dispense with manual labor in horticulture and in the production of fruits and vegetables. Hand labor is required for these operations, and from their very nature it would seem impossible for machinery to supersede hand labor, to any great extent, in them. Therefore we find at once a check to the tendency which the use of machinery would otherwise produce in consolidating small farms and combining them under the proprietorship of a comparatively few persons.

Yet there is no question but the use of agricultural machinery, as it enlarges and cheapens the operations of agriculture, makes large farms desirable; and notwithstanding this, but it has a tendency not heretofore much observed in this pursuit, namely, a tendency to make the employment of capital in farming absolutely necessary, and to place at a disadvantage those who do not have sufficient capital to avail themselves of the use of machinery. If there be any who are disposed to deplore the supersedure of men by machines in husbandry the same answer is ready for them which in times past has confounded those who have predicted sad results from the invention of the cotton gin, the spinning jenny, the sewing machine and the railroad. Every labor-saving invention, so far, has resulted in opening new avenues for the employment of human labor, and in the further elevation and improvement of the condition of mankind.

The Burlingame Treaty.

The New York World has some remarks on Burlingame's treaty with China, which, coming from a high Democratic authority, ought to convince its party friends here who condemn the treaty so vehemently that they have been very foolish to make such a pother about it. The World says the treaty is a "string of empty verbiage," and that it is not of the smallest consequence whether China ratifies or rejects it. "All there is of the treaty, according to this Democratic authority, is the "fuss and feathers" that attend it. The World continues its observations on the subject in the language given below; and while we do not agree with that paper in its assertion that the treaty will secure to neither party a single advantage they did not possess before, we quite agree with it in the statement that its importance has been greatly overestimated. The World says:

"The text of Mr. Burlingame's treaty is all that it is—a thin shell, but it had no policy; no article of a commercial character, no objects to accomplish which were capable of being embodied in it. The stipulations between China and the Western nations. The treaty provides for the opening of no new ports, for the removal of no obstructions to trade, for nothing to which our merchants engaged in the China trade attach any importance. It is all the same to them whether the treaty is ratified or rejected. One of its articles stipulates that China may send consuls to this country, a right which she had before and which there is no probability that she will ever exercise. Another stipulates that the inhabitants of neither country shall be forcibly abducted and taken away —a purely imaginary danger, as regards citizens of the United States; and if the Coolies are in danger of being kidnapped, Congress had already, long before the treaty, passed a law to meet this case. The treaty requires nothing of us on that head which we had not already voluntarily given, and it is ridiculous for the Chinese government to bind itself by treaty to protect its own subjects. One article of the treaty stipulates for the protection of all religious persuasions in the Chinese empire; but as the treaty of 1858 protects all Christians in China, the people of the United States can feel little interest in Mr. Burlingame's supplementary stipulation. His treaty makes this toleration reciprocal—as if any treaty were necessary for securing religious freedom in the United States! The whole treaty is made up of stipulations equally stupid or nugatory. It permits school by foreigners in all parts of China where foreigners are permitted to reside—a privilege which has been conceded and exercised for the last twenty years. There is nothing in the whole draft on which a practical man can lay his finger and say that it is of the slightest consequence; much less that it justifies all the jubilant parade which Mr. Burlingame has made of his wandering embassy."

In General.

The Boston Journal of September 1st shows by police statistics that drunkenness in that city has largely increased since the present stringent prohibitory law went into operation. For instance, it is shown that the commitments for drunkenness during July and August of last year numbered 820, while the commitments for the same months of this year were 1,293.

From Montana papers we learn that the political affairs in that Territory are in a dreadfully tangled condition. Everybody is engaged in the general quarrel about the location of the Territorial Capital,—just as if the matter really amounted to something. And then the papers publish controversial articles by the yard on the recent appointments of Territorial officers by the Governor. The fight is as savage as such a community can make it.

The Eugene Guard assails the bondholders in the Democratic party, and declares that "no platform of principles is really Democratic that pretends horror of repudiation," and that "it was under a kind of protest that we accepted last year, Mr. Pendleton's very conservative proposition to pay off the accursed bonds in greenbacks. We said that we accepted it as a compromise. We are now for the repudiation of the war debt, and of the Congress." So it appears that the extreme repudiation wing of the Democratic party find Pendleton's dishonorable propositions too conservative for them.

Beriah of the Salem Press invents a story about an insult offered to a citizen of Salem, by a member of the Golfax party,—the object of the said pleasing story being to afford himself an opportunity to tell how a "dear friend" of his was once insulted on his account, by a "fiendish Radical." Beriah relates the "personal circumstance" in this way: "When this same Colfax party was on this coast four years ago, they were entertained at the house of one of our oldest and dearest friends. On entering the drawing-room, after dinner, one of the party pointed at our portrait upon the wall, with the remark —'There is the picture of the greatest traitor in California.' The fact that the picture was placed in a position to show that the original was regarded with affectionate respect by the family, could not but suggest to any man of decent sensibility, the offensive and ungentlemanly character of such a remark by a guest in the presence of his entertainers." We don't remember ever to have seen the superannuated egotist of the Press do better in his peculiar line than this. Just observe what a story he invents in order to gain for himself the honor of having been pointed at as "the greatest traitor in California!" And then the "affectionate respect," too! We give it up, now.

Proletarian Democracy.

The Sacramento Union has an article in which the despicable ignorance and detestable demagogism of Democratic leaders in California is shown up; and from this the Union proceeds to widen the application, as follows:

In other States also we find aspirants for the Presidency evincing an almost total lack of self respect; in stooping to capture the current prejudice or passion of the day. Instance Pendleton, who has for several years been arguing against his own convictions upon financial questions as once expressed in Congress. He is now demanding an expansion of a paper money which when inaugurated he pronounced a curse, and the only object he has in view is to ride into power upon prejudice excited against the creditors of the nation. His argument is not even specious, nor his statements correct. He says the bonds were bought with greenbacks when the latter were worth not more than half what they are now worth; and that the debt should be paid in dollars of the same value as the dollar which was loaned. Of course then we must expand the currency to create the necessary depreciation, or pay in greenbacks, as now valued, only fifty cents on the dollar—a clear repudiation of half the debt upon his own interpretation of the law. Again he says "the holders gave legal tenders for the bond," at the low rates he describes. This is not true; for the present holders of half or more of the debt bought at current rates, and it is manifestly impossible to determine the exact value in gold given by any holder, so that his principle of payment is utterly impracticable. His talk is not statesmanship, but demagogy—the despicable demagogy of a Democratic candidate for the Presidency, pandering to the worst passions of the ignorant, and making his bid for the votes of rebels and Copperheads, who, according to Emerson Etheridge, are ready for the issue of entire repudiation.

From this same "great statesmen" we learn that the Fifteenth Amendment is "part and parcel of a scheme to flood the country with a forced importation of an immense number of Chinese coolies." Yet he must know that the Congress which proposed it, passed laws prevent coolie importation. Such publishing falsehoods ought to destroy confidence in every assertion proceeding from their author. They mark degeneracy in Democratic statesmanship which proves it to be the mere echo of the ignorance and prejudice of the times. Woe to the people which permits such statesmen to be elevated to power! Such a people must themselves have lost the capacity to distinguish between right and wrong, between good men and bad men. More correctly now than formerly, we think, men elected to office represent those who elect them. For eight years the people of the United States have shown their intelligence and their dignity in refusing to honor rebels, repudiators, or any other representatives of the destructive elements of the Republic. Let them not depart from that honorable and safe practice now or ever. While this demagogue, Pendleton, professes great solicitude for the people, and declares that "the great questions of liberty, Union and reconstruction have not been made safe," hear what confession is wrung from him by facts too potent for even him to deny; as follows: "That retrenchment, economy and honesty have been introduced into the management of the Federal expenditures; that the debt has been decreased and is in course of decreasing; that the burdens of taxation have been reduced and their weight upon the people lightened, I agree." Well, that is practical Republican statesmanship fully admitted by a Democratic demagogue.

Anna Dickinson.

Miss Anna Dickinson, in one of her San Francisco lectures, having said that it were better for society that the women who came there in the early days of California had been drowned on the passage, many journals and many women took her to task for talking, as some other people do, of things she knew nothing of. Anna came out in her defence, proclaiming herself a martyr, and thus the San Jose Mercury martyrizes her:

"Dear Anna, if you remain long in California, you will probably witness stranger things than you have yet seen. People learn fast here, and if you only remain a short time longer you may possibly learn that cant and affectation and humbug, especially in a woman, are not very highly prized in this region, and that you would do better to leave all such for the use of your Eastern friends. You talk about being a martyr for your sex. Nonsense! do you think people here are such fools that they cannot see through a transparent humbug like that? Martyr, indeed! A few years ago you were a poor, unknown girl, struggling for a humble support in a modest way, in your native town. You had some talent, but not more than hundreds of your sisters, who have made no mark in the world.

"One beautiful gift nature gave you, which has been denied to the majority of us, or if not denied us, we lack the self-confidence which is indispensable for its favorable display. With this ordinary talent and this beautiful gift, and an unlimited amount of self-assertion, you went out into the world, as was your right, to fight the battle of life in your own way. Men admired your spirit—they misnamed it genius; women wanted a champion—they, too, fawned on and flattered you; you have been praised, petted, paid, until your head is at full of vanity as your pocket is of money. From poverty to riches, from obscurity to fame, from rags to silks and jewels, you have triumphantly passed within the brief space of a few short years, and you now talk as if you were a martyr, and say you have for woman's good, [not for money] gone to the scaffold and the stake of ridicule. Poor thing! We know a great many just as worthy women who would like to pass through the same experience, and perhaps they could do it, if they had the brass. Men, 'chivalrous men,' are overready to welcome any earnest effort of a woman; and because she is a woman they always overestimate her. The same things you say, said by a man, and in a style equally pleasant, would create no furore. The man would be taken for his actual worth, and not set down as 'wonderful,' 'sublime,' etc., because of her sex. We believe in equal rights for man and woman, and just judgments for all. At any rate, you need not attempt to play the martyr here. You are in the wrong latitude."

"Colonel."

The following from the Leavenworth Times show how military titles are scattered around in Kansas, and exhibits some of Senator Yates' perplexities growing out of the peculiarity of that State:

There really ought to be more Colonels in Leavenworth, and in Kansas. The present paucity produces confusion. Senator Yates was here a few days ago, and the labor of introducing him fell upon our hands. We did the best we could.

"Senator Yates, Colonel Insley."

Walked along to the National Bank.

"Senator Yates, Colonel Hunt, of the Pay Department."

Came down stairs and met an old friend:

"Colonel Vaughn, one of our Pioneers."

Yates said he had a draft on a bank in Springfield, Ill. Asked him if he would see Col. Colonel Clark, General Sloan, Colonel Hitchcock, Colonel Newman, Colonel Hines, Colonel Borland, Colonel Ewens, Colonel Lucien Scott, Colonel Lyman Scott, Colonel Henry Foot, Colonel Crocker Ralston, Colonel Judge Crozier, Colonel Burnes or Colonel McKay.

Said he didn't know, and we went to see Colonel Jenkins, General Halderman, Colonel Morris, Colonel Conover, Colonel Abernathy, Colonel Jennison, Major Sleeper, General Wilder, Colonel Morehead, Judge Delahay, Colonel Harris, Colonel Holm, General Sherry, Colonel Woods, Colonel Hemingray, Colonel McFarland, Colonel Irwin, Colonel Burke, Colonel Hass, Colonel Ketner. By that time Yates was tired. He wanted to know were the common people were. And we introduced him to Colonel Legate, Colonel Tholen, Colonel Dexter, General Blunt, Colonel Moonlight and Colonel Burlingame.

Everybody in Leavenworth, Kansas City, St. Joseph and St. Louis have won renown in the war. And titles. If you don't believe it, come and see.

THE FIDELITER CASE.—As this steamship has been adjudged forfeited to the United States, a brief history of the case may be of interest to the public The suit was brought on complaint of J Lugebill for the condemnation of the steamship as being forfeited to the United States for the violation of Section 4 of the Registry act of December 31 1792, and Section 24 of the act to prevent smuggling and for other purposes of July 18 1866 It was commenced on Dec 1868

The court found that the Fidelitier was a British built vessel wrecked near Victoria some time prior to 1866 that in that condition she was purchased by Wm Kohl as an American citizen who caused her to be registered at Victoria in the name of John Dutnell that afterwards in June 1867 said Kohl professedly as the agent of said Dutnell, but in fact for himself made a steam sale of said vessel to the claimant, Joseph Lugebil a Russian subject and officer of Alaska, for the purpose of making her an American vessel under the Treaty of purchase with Russia and in fraud thereof That on Oct 28 1868 said Kohl for the purpose of procuring an American Register for the Fidelitier before Dodge American Consul at Alaska affirmed that Lugebil was the true and only owner of the Fidelitier which affirmation the court found to be false, and that said register was fraudulently and knowingly obtained and used for the Fidelitier in violation and fraud of said Treaty and laws of the United States In the opinion brought was given to the fact that the claimant Lugebil had not only withheld his own testimony as to the facts, but that he had kept out of the knowledge of the officers of the Government so as to prevent the libellants taking his testimony and also that the claimant had not only failed to prove the testimony of John Dutnell through whom he claimed but that Kohl his agent and the real owner had left Dutnell concealed in and about Victoria so as to prevent the United States from obtaining his testimony The vessel having been delivered to the claimant on bond a decree was entered against the sureties on the bond for the value of the vessel, $30 000

J M Bolch for United States

RAID OF THE MOUNTAINS.—By the arrival of an accomplice from east of the mountains, we learn that work has been commenced on the Dalles and Warm Springs and Ochoco road, at the place called Trout Hill The people of the Dalles not long since subscribed $7000 for this improvement, and that money is now being expended

At Warm Springs, Capt Mitchell, the new Superintendent, is about to undertake some improvements in the road which have long been needed not only by the people of the Agency, but by the surrounding settlers and other things be will, if the people will assist do toward a bridge across the Deschutes He is also taking steps to secure if possible the means of mail communication from Dalles via Warm Springs to Ochoco The mail route will probably be petitioned for and the establishment of such a route would supply a most urgent need

The people of Ochoco valley and the surrounding settlements have entirely finished their harvest and are now well prepared for winter They also have a road to the city—complaining that the Cascade Mountain Wagon Road Co of Linn county has not complied with the terms of the law of Congress in that it has not opened a wagon road and that the design of the road was evidently been to so locate their road as to secure all the valuable lands, without regard to the practicability of travel The settlers of Ochoco have about one hundred head of fat cattle to sell this fall, of which purchasers may make a note

In the matter of S. M. Black in bankruptcy; hearing on motion to show cause why motion for adjudication of bankruptcy should not be granted, and on petitioning creditor's petition for debtor.

In the matter of Jacob Batt, in bankruptcy ; motion to strike out part of petition allowed, and petition dismissed, motion by judgment creditor to modify injunction denied; application on the part of the Sheriff to be allowed costs denied, and on application, the said matter has until to-morrow morning to file answer, or such further time. Fredkerrich for petitioning creditor Deady for judgment creditors and Whally & Peebles for debtor.

In the matter of C A. Westfall, in bankruptcy hearing on order to show cause continued to the 1st Monday in October next.

A Splendid Lecture.—Mrs Augusta N St Clair, who is now lecturing in the southern and middle portions of the State, is coming this way, and is announced to lecture at the Theater next Thursday evening Her subject will be "The Duties of Woman to her Family, to Society and the Public." A note from Mr. St. Clair informs us that she will probably also deliver a lecture on the following evening on Spiritualism and Emancipation of all the Southern slaves since the war. Mrs and Mr St Clair have crossed the plains in their private conveyance, visiting various points on the way They will probably remain but two or three days here, as they purpose visiting Puget Sound, and to return to Boston, where Mrs St Clair is under engagement to begin a course of lectures on the 1st of October. Her first lecture here should be heard at least by the ladies, as it will contain information how ladies may render themselves beautiful" "how women may get married," etc, etc Every holder of tickets will also be given a prize Miss Ivy Brearley, a young lady of this city, a talented contralto, will sing a number of popular compositions, comic, sentimental and patriotic songs, interspersed, probably, with the solo entertainment ought to be one to strictly suit people of culture and refinement

Fair Annual Address, Etc —The Bee says Hon Mr Thayer, of Benton county, will deliver the annual address to the State Agricultural Society, at the coming State Fair Mr. Thayer is a practical farmer and an ardent lover of good stock, and we expect to have a practical address from him

Citizens of Washington Territory desires to know if citizens of that Territory can compete for the premiums offered at the State Fair We answer certainly they can and will be gladly welcomed as well as those of Oregon We have no doubt our neighbors of British Columbia would be pleased to have a share of the premiums

Mr Bennett, of Salem, that who has traveled a good deal about the State during this summer tells us that there is more than the usual interest manifested in the fairs with reference to their department of stock. She found in one case three ladies in one neighborhood in Linn county who were all calculating to take the first premium, and by so doing become entitled to a silver cup each

Accident.—One of the deck hands on the steamer Lewis met with a very serious accident yesterday morning while unloading the river. The steamers Yaquina and Union were meeting and had given the usual signal for stopping to transfer a passenger from one to the other The latter had checked her headway, but the former had not, enough to keep her steadily under way. One of the deck hands on the latter vessel undertook to shove the Union off to the guard tried to shove the Union off to the guard but in doing so, was caught between the two boats and terribly injured His shoulder was broken and his breast crushed so that it may be considered doubtful if he can outlive the night. The man was taken to this city for surgical and medical treatment. We do not hear that any blame is attached to the pilots

Lecture at St Helens Hall.—Last Thursday evening a lecture was delivered at St Helens Hall in this city for the benefit of the Sabbath School connected with this institution The programme consisted of recitations, dialogues, tableaux, singing etc, which passed off in the most satisfactory manner. Although a rather stormy, very many who otherwise would have attended were kept away In consequence of which has been made for the repetition of the lecture and the managers have attended The entertainment will be repeated on Thursday evening, Sept 23d at half past seven o'clock admission

To-Night.—The Great World Circus will perform this evening at the corner of Fourth and Pine streets In addition to the circus performances proper, there will be treated to what are called "thrilling equestrian feats" with the monarchs of the forest by Mr Lent, the Lion Tamer The newspapers published at places north of here where the circus has performed in speak in the various opinion as to the merits of the performances, but the general tone of criticism is favorable They think it gives the money's worth to all who go to see it

Advertisements.—We are informed that Mr Dowell of Jacksonville, the proprietor of the Oregon House, who has been for some days in this city, yesterday purchased the entire block in Couch's Addition Mr Dowell is reported a responsible man to which this transaction with another proof An investment in Portland real estate is just now about a dead sure thing to win

Returned.—A number of Portland people returned by the Oregon Telegraph from Victoria, among whom were Mr W Ladd, John Everest and Frank Pinnimer who left with Lee's circus They say Mr Lee was under bonds when they left, whether to go to the Sandwich Islands or not, they do not say Most of the company were anxious to get back to this city

Death Through Heavily Stokes.—Mr John Barrows of Albany, recently started for the Eastern States via Victoria. He took along a couple of sacks of Oregon wheat for exhibition at the California State Fair The wheat was exhibited, but the list prepared by the California officers reads, "Two sacks wheat John Barrows Albany Iowa"

Mr Lyman on Invitation.—Our evening cotemporary says that John G Saxe, the celebrated American poet who is expected to arrive at San Francisco about the first of next month, should be invited to visit Oregon We second the suggestion. We should so like to hear a poetic change on Oregon scenery.

Unknown Ship Moon was.—The bark Hattie C Bent which has been for some days discharging freight at Holbrook & Stephens wharf, dropped down yesterday to McCraken, Merrill & Co's dock She has a considerable quantity of salt to discharge for that firm.

An Unpleasant Bath.—A short time after the Fidelitier sailed from Victoria, Mr A C. Haack, a passenger, was accidentally overboard by a swell, and before he could be rescued from his perilous position in the water nearly half an hour A bath not to be envied him

To Mt Hood.—It is the design of the party for Mt Hood to start to-day, notwithstanding the unfavorable state of the weather They evidently calculate on a trip within two or three days

Fined.—There was one case of drunk before the Recorder yesterday A out of which the city mad five dollars Another case, disorderly conduct sent to jail in default of sailing

An Excellent Article.—We have been trying some of Mr J F Jones prepared Mocha coffee and find it a little the best and most pleasant article of coffee we have used for years.

Socials.—The Ladies of the Unitarian Society will hold a sociable this evening at their Church, corner of Yamhill and Seventh streets Everybody invited

Sailing Postponed.—The sailing of the Queen Leander for Victoria advertising C S D has been postponed She probably will not leave for three or four days

Sunday School Convention.—A Sunday School Convention will be held at Salem beginning on the first day October 8th and will continue two days

Two Nights.—Shipboard says that he has just two nights to Chester for two nights to Mrs St Clair—Thursday and Friday

VARIETIES

A drunken man after trying in vain to keep on the sidewalk, was heard to exclaim as he headed for the middle of the road There now go, in the street if you want to

Mark Twain writing about Boston says You must learn to pronounce Quincy as it were Quinzy and Faneuil as if it were Fannel In this way you can palm yourself on the unsuspecting for a native and be respected

The Omaha Republican pronounces the article entitled 'A Lone Woman s Trip to Omaha and Beyond in the Atlantic Monthly for September a fiction and an imposition Probably because no lone woman was ever known to go beyond the city of Omaha

The Milwaukee Sentinel makes merry at the expense of the owls of sciences who hooted about the trichina spiralis ' at Salem (Mass) and especially at the announcement that all meats and vegetables should be cooked Must we stew our cucumbers? the Sentinel, asks roast our water melons bake our lettuce and our radishes, or else go without these things" Others ' it says, 'may do as they will but as for the Sentinel, it will take its berries and melons and lettuce raw and take the risk of trichina '

French ingenuity has invented a new amusement for persons waiting for the appearance of those on whom they call A lady in Paris has had placed in her drawing room an immense marble shell in which are to be seen a great number of fishes of various species A gentleman called upon her for the first time the other day Madame is at her toilet " said the servant, ' but if while waiting for her, monsieur would like to pass his time in fishing, he will find here hooks, lines and bait. As for fish, the shell is full of them

Startling screams were heard issuing from one of the hot sulpher bathing rooms at Sharon Springs New York the other morning The attendent burst the door in expecting to find some body cooking from accidental inability to turn off the hot water But, no for amid the artistically curling vapors of the bath stood a victim of enameling, gazing directly at a mirror which showed her face and bust gradually turning black under the combined influences of sulphur and enamel By the next conveyance a lady left the springs wearing a very thick veil

An Unnatural Mother.—The Hamilton (White Pine) Inland Empire, 10th inst gives the following story

We understand that a mother of this city a few days ago gave away her only child a bright boy of three summers, to a total stranger who was going East She is said to have went even further, and on joined as one of the conditions upon which the stranger was allowed to take the little outcast that she might never again be permitted to see or hear from it Nothing but actual starvation or some great and unbearable calamity it would seem, could justify or even prompt such strange conduct But no such circumstances as these plead in extenuation of the action of the heartless mother under notice, for she is said to be blest with a sufficient amount of this world's goods for all immediate, if not future purposes Her unnatural conduct can therefore be accounted for only on the hypothesis that she being a gay and giddy grass widow, had conceived the idea that her only offspring might prove an obstacle to the consummation of some cherished object. The child had all along been neglected by its unfeeling mother, however, which would seem to preclude so charitable a conclusion in explanation of her inhuman example in the premises It is understood that the young man who took the little one East, asked that he might be allowed to take it home with him to his mother His request was granted with out hesitation, and the departure of the little fellow did not excite a single emotion in the breast of the stony hearted mother to distinguish the event from a brief absence to a toy shop Not a tear a sigh, or embrace marked that parting, maybe forever, of mother and child. Let it be hoped that Heaven will look with commiseration on the unnatural separation, and that the event was in accordance with one of the inscrutable decrees of Him who notes even the fall of the sparrow, which must be attended with beneficial results in the end.

Dead Heats in a Chinese Theatre.—The following is from the San Francisco Chronicle

Our reporter happened to be standing at the door of the Chinese Theatre a few evenings since, looking at the visitors to the establishment as they filed in Three well dressed fashionable youths presented themselves at the door and with a well assumed air of insouciance proceeded to walk in The Celestial doorkeeper demanded the customary entrance fee, but was informed with a lofty air that the gentlemen were representatives of the press and entitled to admission without the absurd preliminary of paying anything. The Celestial could not understand it and called to his assistance another gentleman who spoke English with more facility than himself He asked on what grounds the three gentlemen presumed to enter on the free list. The spokesman at once replied "Why we are members of the press I represent the Chicago Bladder, this gentleman the Evening Lamp-post, and this the New York Daily Turnip—we want to visit your place The Celestial, completely dumbfounded at the array of powerful journals thus brought before his bewildered gaze in the persons of these gay humbugs, bowed to the earth and led them in with the greatest politeness to a prominent place in the theater

To Hebrew Parents—Religious Instruction —Dr Eckman has commenced imparting religious instruction to the children of those parents who may be desirous of committing their children under the (almost paternal) care of a man whose truly religious character and simplicity have over most extraordinarily attuned his mind to that of simple childhood and exercised a magnetic power over the juveniles brought within his influence which unregenerate minds can never acquire The instruction will till the new Synagogue will be completed, be given at the Washington Armory Hall next building to the Portland Library Till then they will be given on the Sabbath and Holy days, after the close of the regular morning service

Fair is my love, so fair,
I shudder with the sense
Of what a light the world would lose
Could she go hence.

Sweet is my love, so sweet,
The leaves that, fold on fold /
Swathe p the odors of the rose,
Less sweetness hold.

True is my love, so true
Her heart is mine al ne
The mimic of the hybrid beat
Throbs through my own.

Dear is my love, so dear
If I but hear her name,
My eyes with tears of rapture swim
My cheek is flame

THE RACCOON AND THE PARALLOGIER.

The Raccoon iz a resident ov the United States ov America, he emigrated to this country soon after its discovery by Columbus without a cent and nothing but his claws tew git a livin with

He iz one ov them kind ov persons whose hide is worth more than all the rest ov him

He resides among the heavy timber and cultivates the cornfields and nabring garden sass for sustenance, and understands his bizz nass

Hiz family consists ov a wife and throe children, who liv with him on the inside ov a tree

He can alwus be found at home during the day, reddy to receive calls, but his nights are devoted tew looking after hiz own affairs.

He dresses in soft fur, and hiz tail, which iz round haz rings on it

These rings are ov the same material that the tail iz, and are worn upon all occasions.

During the winter he ties himself up into a hard not and lays down by hiz fireside

When spring opens, he opens, and goes out tew see how the chickens have wintered

His life iz as free from labor as a new penny, and if it wasn't for the dogs and the rest ov mankind, the raccoon would find what everybody else haz lost—a Heaven upon earth

But the dogs tree him and the men skin him, and what there is left of him ain't worth a chaw.

He is not a natural wagaband like the hedge-hog and the alligator, but lurs to be civilized and liv among folks, and he haz one vice that the smartest missionary on earth kan't redeem, and that iz the art ov stealing

He iz second only tew the crow in point ov sarcasm, and will steal what he kant eat or hide

He will flip over a barrel of apple sass just for the fun ov snarling the fliss with his feet, and will pull out the plug out ov the molasses, not because he lurs sugar enny better than he duz yoong ducks, but just tew see if the molasses haz got a good dash to it.

If hav stolned animal deviltry for eighteen years because the more deviltry in an animal, the more human he is

I can't find out, by searching the passenger list, that Noah had a coon on board, but I am willing to bet 10 pound ov anshun against mister coon, and his wife dominated, by stealing a ride.

I never knu a raccoon tew want enything long that he could not steal quick

Enybody that has ever looked a coon right square in the face, will bet yu a dollar that he is a dead beat, or under five hundred dollars bonds, not tew go into the bizzness for the next ninety days

I have had three coons by the dozen they are as easy to tame as a child, if yu take them young enuff, but I kant advise enybody to cultivate coons, they want as much feeding as a hired man on the tow path, and there aint enny more profit in them than that is in last stock dividend on the Erie Railroad.

I never was out of a pet animal since I kan remember, till now, but I have gone out of the trade of owning them, for I discovered that it wuz a good deal like making a whissell out ov a kats tale, very long a pon for little tale, and reaping a very limen whissel.

Raccoons live tew be 65 years old, if they mi—the reality ov coon and dogs enuff, but they are so, but few ov them die ov old age, they—[illegible] enemys are the grate destroyers ov the coon family.

I feel sorry for raccoons, for with a little more pains, they could make respectable citizens, before the justice of the peace, but even sich a child not save them from final ruin.

Before dinner I make my confession, after all who kill a hedgehog in the eye every time, or shoot a jackass in the ass, will hugs on his tale, who saws wine, and when she wants a belly-logger, she knows how tew make him, without spilling a goodeeon

Pettibones, no doubt, hav a destiny tew fill, and they may enable a justiss of the peace, in a cloudy day, tew have a good deal less of the law than he otherwise would, still, for all this, if I was obliged tew pray for one or the other, I think now I should, say, Gin us a leetle moreasoun, and a good deal less pettibogger.

If the raccoon would only give his whole attenshun tew politicks, thar ain't but few could beat him, he's at home on the stump, and enjoys enuss, old cache, kan resolate how, in 1840, with nothing but a hard cider fust, he sprung the country, from the north to the south pals, like a cargo ov epsom salts.

Women for the West.

[From the New York Evening Post.]

As there are 50,000 more women than there are men in Massachusetts, different attempts have been made to distribute a part of the superabundant sex in sections of the country where men preponderate over the women, especially in California and Oregon. The last and very raised against ex-Gov. Slade's company of school teachers sent out to Oregon some years ago; was that the women, though they were from thirty to forty years of age, existed in getting married, and hence it was suspected that they went there to get married, and not to teach school. Indeed, one of these sent "school marms" was married to the Governor of the State, another to a distinguished judge, another still to an Episcopal clergyman, and the rest found willing husbands in the towns and on the ranches. It might be supposed that the success of the company would have led to a series of emigrating parties from Massachusetts.

But no, the business all at once fell off and even fell into disrepute. Yet California, Oregon and Washington Territory are all crying out for what they call "female domestics" from New England. We lately printed a brief statement of what the California Labor Exchange had done in the past year in the way of supplying "help," and among other things that it had found places for four thousand and twenty-one women. The Exchange reports that the demand for female servants is largely in excess of the supply, that such servants are eagerly engaged at from $20 to $30 a month in gold, and it is said that in Oregon women can get from $15 to $30 in gold. But a Mr W. L. Adams holds out the strongest inducements to Eastern women to emigrate to Oregon. He reports that of seventy women who went there from Massachusetts two years ago, all but one are married and that it seems to be the fate of all the women who go to that coast to marry early—no matter what their age or personal attractions.

A great drawback to the more extensive use of canal navigation, is the fact that the ordinary paddle wheels and screws employed on lakes and rivers, are wholly inadmissible on canals, on account of the swell created by them, which would soon wash away the banks of the canal. From an article published in the St Paul Pioneer, it appears that Dr Robert Hunter has nearly if not quite succeeded in the construction of a propelling wheel, which is free from the above objections. The paddles of this new wheel work under the water, and produce no perceptible disturbance. The invention was tried not long since, on Lake Como, in Minnesota, and the experiments made with the little boat constructed for the purpose of testing it were in a high degree satisfactory to those who witnessed them. It has been patented in this country and in Europe, and we hope future experiments and scientific tests will demonstrate that the invention is all that is claimed for it.

Female Suffrage

[From the El Paso (Tex.) Journal.]

EDITORS JOURNAL:—The other night I went home to the bosom of my family after a hard days work I am a family man I always go home when I haun't no place else to go

I was met at the door by Mrs Snooks who smiled sweetly at me

I knowed somethin was wrong When Mrs. Snooks is affectionate I always tremble in my boots

I set down to the table litle I the cover from the vittals, and there wasn't a blamed thing to eat

I looke I at thepartner of my joy with calm severity and asked Where in thun ler is the supp er to me?

She fished out of her pocket a strip of paper longer than my arm, and says Snooks before you git anything to eat in this house you've got to sign this petition

I knowed in a minute what that meant It meant a mossil But I quieted my pash uns, and said in a calm voice, What petition?

"A petition said she 'askin the le gisli tooshunal convenshun to bestow suffrage on the wimmen'

"Mrs Snooks, said I I am ta goin to have none of that nonsense in this house Go and bile me a ham

Sign my petition says she

'Bile me a ham " says I

The following animated conversashun ensued

'Sign the petishon "

'Bile the ham!'

'Sign!

'Bile!'

"Sign! Bile!' 'Sign!' "Bile!'

"Mrs Snooks, ' said I, ' beware how yoo trifle with the feelin s of a desperate man go bile me a ham!'

'You old fool you, she said, you've got to sign this petition now right away, or yoo don t get a thing to eat'

This is what comes of a man s takin the Agitator and allowin his wife to git up nights and read it I arose and went to the cupboard, but everything was swept clean I remark, sarcastically "Mrs Snooks, there s an old suit of clothes belongin to me hang in behind the door, hadn t you better put 'em on"

Sarcasm was utterly thrown away on that woman She only said, ' If I couldn t fill 'em better'n you do I d throw 'em away entirely "

Next I tried pathos

"Now see here, Mary Ann, what s the use in our quarreling, go and bile a ham and omit this nonsense "

Snooks, said she, ' we wimmen hev been trod under foot too long It's time we stood out for our rights You've got to sign that there petition '

It s the sacred truth that I got nothin' to eat that night and the next mornin that woman refused to get up, and I made a break fast out of a couple of herrin and some crackers If there s anything I hate it s hav in a row in the family and goin without anything to eat, so before dinner time I signed the petition

This is what we are comin too, is it? This is the caws of wimmin suffrage?

I hope that the men generally will stan' firm.

I hope that Constitutional Convenshun will refuse to entertain any of their blamed notions Let's vote em down while we have the power, even if they starve us to death

MARK TWAIN.—The following telegram to the Buffalo Express is one of Mark Twain's performances It explains itself

NIAGARA FALLS August 26th

EDITOR EXPRESS: I borrowed Jenkins' velocipede, and tried the slack rope performance over Niagara, but it is only a partial success I have got to the middle, two hundred and twenty feet above the river, as well as Jenkins or any other man could do it, but I cannot go any further I stopped like that other ass to have my picture taken and can t get her started again. I cannot back up or go ahead I have been roosting between heaven and earth for a matter of eighteen hours now My position is exceedingly ridiculous, not to say uncomfortable Near-sighted English sportsmen are practising on me with shotguns and such things because they take me to be a curious bird—and I am—I am a rooster They have torn my clothes a good deal How am I going to get out of this? I have been suspended long enough—I wish to suspend the exhibition for a while now But if the thing is going to be permanent please send me an umbrella It is very warm here

P S—Does my salary go on? Because I was instructed to try this stupidus experiment by one of the Express firm He said it would be a good card for the paper if I succeeded—but this wretched thing won t budge, you understand. I was to have been married to-day. I wish I was out of this Yours, in great suspense

ENDORSEMENTS.

OLYMPIA W T March 27 1869

C A WHITE Esq.—Dear Sir: Having examined your original map embracing that portion of Washington Territory west of the Cascade Range, I cheerfully add my testimony to its value Having been engaged for a number of years in the surveys from Cape Flattery to the Head of Puget Sound I have examined this portion of your map more critically than others, and I take pleasure in recommending it for general correctness

This map will fill a want that has long been felt not only among the residents of this Territory but others who are legitimately obtaining information of this portion of the Pacific Northwest and I trust that we shall soon see it in a form suitable for general distribution

JOS S LAWSON
Asst U S C S

We endorse the annexed opinion of Jos S Lawson Esq and will add that Mr. Chas A. White is a practical surveyor, as he has proven to the township maps in the various land Offices in this Territory, as also the Coast Survey charts; and we can vouch for his map of Washington Territory, west of the Cascade Range of Mountains as being correct and the only good map of the same territory that has been made
